

available to the motor carrier through an ELD...or through other technology used in combination with and not separable from the ELD, that the motor carrier knew, or should have known, would result in the driver violating” HOS and fatigue regulations. By creating such a definition and establishing guidelines for best and appropriate uses